

Maggies Podcast

Section Menu

Maggies Podcast - local news with a global outlook, is an engaging, student-led podcast which broadcasts local school and global news. Many primary and secondary students participate in this activity to pitch, record, and produce regular episodes.

The podcast provides a platform that strengthens the connection across the primary and secondary school while genuinely connecting with a wider audience of school community members. Contributing students can strengthen their communication skills with an authentic audience and purpose; foster critical, creative and ethical thinking; form their own opinions; and cultivate enterprising skills as they investigate, create and communicate with a range of technologies. Students have access to a dedicated recording studio and state of the art recording equipment.

Maggies Podcast is available to listen to here or on The POD. It can be listened to anytime, anywhere and on any device. We look forward to growing the Maggies Podcast audience and continuing to educate, inform, inspire, and enlighten the St Margaret's community through this medium.
